Excellence, in any endeavor, does not happen by accident. In today's world of non-profit work, where change, culture and organizational problems are unique, excellence must be considered an on-going quest and the focus of time, attention, and financial investment.

As a former State director who has worked with countless non-profits, Dr. Hamby has the expertise to help your leadership, employees, volunteers and admin staff tackle the challenges ahead, while helping your team see the value their role plays in your organization's mission, vision and overall success.
